SVS SB-1000 Pro

AFTER FIRST INTRODUCING app-based control and customisable parametric EQ to its subwoofer range with the flagship 16-Ultra Series in 2016, SVS has now brought the technology to its entry-level models. The US company's affordable SB-1000 Pro therefore offers greater setup and tuning flexibility than its predecessor series, and delivers an improved performance courtesy of a new fibre composite 12in driver allied to a 325W Sledge DSP amplifier. The price point says 'budget', but the listening experience is anything but – this well-built sealed sub has speed, bass extension and power to spare, all from a cabinet barely bigger than the driver itself.
